I hereby certify, pursuant to the provisions of the Act 29 & 30 Vict. c. 39, s. 21, that the foregoing Account has been examined with reference to the several Acts of Parliament under the authority of which the Issues have been made; and that my observations thereon will be found in the accompanying Report prepared for the information of the House of Commons.

REPORT by the COMPTROLLER and AUDITOR-GENERAL on the ACCOUNT of ISSUES from the CONSOLIDATED FUND of Great Britain and Ireland, in the Financial Year ended 31st March 1867, for the Interest and Management of the PUBLIC and UNFUNDED DEBT, for the CIVIL LIST, and all other ISSUES in the Financial Year for SERVICES charged directly on the said FUND. (Prepared and submitted for the information of the House of Commons, in pursuance of the Act 29 & 30 Vict. c. 39, s. 21.)

Exchequer and Audit Department,
5 February 1868.

THIS account has been rendered to this department in accordance with the requirements of the Act above quoted.

Upon the examination of the account, the following observations have to be made:

1st.—COURTS OF JUSTICE, SALARIES, &c. (GREAT BRITAIN).

Salary of the Clerk of the Patents, per 3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 84 - - £. 400

Under the 8th section of the Act quoted, the clerk of the patents received his salary from the Consolidated Fund, but the office is one of those referred to in the Schedule B, attached to the Act 17 & 18 Vict. c. 94, which were removed prospectively from the Consolidated Fund to the annual Estimates.

Under the proviso contained in the 1st section of the Act last quoted, Mr. Leonard Edmunds, who held the office at the time of the passing of the Act, continued to receive his salary from the Consolidated Fund until the 30th June 1864.

Mr. Christopher B. Cardew was then appointed to the office in question, and it is found that, contrary to the provisions of the Act of 17 & 18 Vict. above quoted, the payment of this salary to Mr. Cardew, which commenced on 1st October 1864, has still been charged upon the Consolidated Fund up to 31st March 1867. The error has, however, been corrected from that date.

2nd.—COURTS OF JUSTICE, SALARIES, COMPENSATIONS, &c. (IRELAND).

“To make good the Deficiency of the Fee Fund,” per Acts 6 & 7 } £. 26,350
Will. 4, c. 74, 13 & 14 Vict. c. 51, 19 & 20 Vict. c. 92 - - }

Upon referring to the Acts quoted, it appears by sections 26 and 27 of the Act 13 & 14 Vict., and by section 28 of the Act 19 & 20 Vict., that the sums to be issued out of the Consolidated Fund to supply the deficiencies of the Fee Fund Accounts of the Court of Chancery in Ireland, were to be so issued by way of advance, and not as final charges upon the Consolidated Fund; and that it was provided that these advances should “become and remain a charge in favour of the Crown” upon the said Fee Fund Accounts, “as far as the same would extend after payment of prior charges,” and that they should be “repaid to the proper officers of Her Majesty’s Exchequer, to be carried to the credit of the Consolidated Fund at such times and in such manner as the Commissioners of Her Majesty’s Treasury shall order and direct.”

It will therefore be seen that the issues, amounting to 26,350 £., ought not to have been charged in this account as part of the public expenditure of the year, but that they should have been included, with other advances repayable to the Exchequer, under the head of “Advances by way of loan charged on the Consolidated Fund,” and should also have been included under that head in the second part of the Account and Balance Sheet of Public Income and Expenditure laid before Parliament.

This error has been corrected from the 1st April 1867; but I have to observe that the total sum which has been so charged as part of the public expenditure of the United Kingdom, embracing the period from 28th November 1854 to 31st March 1867, has amounted to 295,650 £.

It is further to be observed that this amount is exclusive of a sum of 118,994 £. 12s. 10d., advanced under the authority of the Act of 6 & 7 Vict. c. 55, and of the Act 13 & 14 Vict. c. 51, before referred to, for compensations to officers of the Court of Exchequer in Ireland, which have been properly charged under the head of “Advances” in the accounts and balance sheets laid before Parliament; making a total of advances, under the Acts quoted, of 414,644 £. 12s. 10d., of which, so far as I am aware, a net sum of 406,284 £. 19s. 5d. remains unpaid.

A memorandum and account upon this subject is annexed to this report.

Exchequer, and Auditor General of Public Accounts.

MEMORANDUM on the subject of "ADVANCES out of the CONSOLIDATED FUND, to make good DEFICIENCIES in FEE FUNDS, &c. of the COURT OF CHANCERY and COURT of EXCHEQUER, Ireland," referred to in the preceding Report.

By the 25th section of the Act 6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 74 (passed 13th August 1836), authority was given to pay certain compensations granted under the provisions of that Act:

- 1st. Out of the "Interest and Produce of the Compensation and Fee Fund of the Suitors of the Court of Chancery in Ireland" (created by Act 4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 78, see below), and, if this fund should be insufficient for the purpose, then,
- 2ndly. Out of the "Suitors' Fee Fund" (created by Act 6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 74, s. 20); and in case both these funds should be inadequate, then,
- 3rdly. Out of the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom.

No direct provision is made in the Act for the repayment of the advances out of the Consolidated Fund; but it is provided by the 20th section of the Act, that when the compensations granted in pursuance of the Act shall have ceased to be payable, and when the advances out of the Consolidated Fund shall have been repaid, the fee of 6*d.* in the 1*l.*, referred to in that section of the Act, shall cease. This fee of 6*d.*, then paid to the usher of the Court of Chancery, was continued, and was made payable to the "Suitors' Fee Fund," which thus became charged with the repayment of the advances out of the Consolidated Fund.

The "Compensation and Fee Fund of the Suitors of the Court of Chancery in Ireland," referred to above, was created by the 19th Section of the Act 4 & 5 Will. 4, c. 78. That section recites that, as there had always been a large sum of money belonging to the Suitors of the Court of Chancery in Ireland, lying in the Bank of Ireland unproductive to the Suitors of the Court, the sum of 200,000 l. should be invested and be placed to an account, to be called the "Compensation and Fee Fund of the Suitors of the Court of Chancery in Ireland," the interest and annual profits of which were directed to be placed to an Account opened at the Bank of Ireland in the name of the Accountant General of the Court, and intituled "An Account of the Interest and Produce of the Compensation and Fee Fund of the Suitors of the Court of Chancery in Ireland," and to be issued and applied pursuant to the directions of the Act.

Under the 14th Section of the Act 6 & 7 Vict. c. 55 (dated 17 August 1843), "An Act for the Amendment of the Proceedings and Practice of the Equity side of the Court of Exchequer in Ireland," certain compensations sanctioned by that Act are made chargeable upon:

1st.—The Income of the Compensation and Fee Fund of the Suitors of the Court of Exchequer in Ireland (see below), and if this fund should be inadequate, then 2ndly.—Upon the Consolidated Fund, by way of Advance.

Under the 9th Section of the same Act, a sum of 30,000 l. out of the cash belonging to the Suitors of the Court of Exchequer, lying unproductive in the Bank of Ireland, was invested, in Government Securities, and placed to an Account called "An Account of the Compensation and Fee Fund of the Suitors of the Court of Exchequer in Ireland," to the intent that the interest and annual profits arising from the money so placed out might be applied to the payment of the compensations of officers of the Court for loss of emoluments; and Section 14 provides that, in case the said income of the Fund shall be inadequate to the payment of the whole amount of compensations so granted thereout, the excess shall be paid out of the Consolidated Fund.

The 14th and 15th Sections of the same Act provide that all such last-mentioned payments out of the Consolidated Fund shall be charged as advances in aid of the said Suitors' Fund, and shall remain a charge in favour of the Crown, and be repaid to the Consolidated Fund so soon as the said Compensation and Fee Fund shall be relieved from the payment of the Compensation Allowances awarded under the said Act.

Under the Act 7 & 8 Vict. c. 90 (passed 9th August 1844), certain compensations were granted (Sections 34 and 35) to officers and persons therein referred to, and such Compensations were made payable out of fees, to be levied under the provisions of the said Act (see Section 25).

Under a subsequent Act of 1850 (13 & 14 Vict. c. 51, passed 29th July 1850), authority was given to make good any deficiency in the fees above referred to (see Section 26) for the payment of the said compensations out of the Consolidated Fund of Great Britain and Ireland, by way of advance, to be repaid to the said fund at the receipt of Her Majesty's Exchequer. And, under that and the 27th Sections, all other compensations awarded under the authority of the said Act, which could not be satisfied out of the "Compensation and Fee Fund of the Court of Exchequer" (6 & 7 Vict. c. 55), and out of the fees before referred to (7 & 8 Vict. c. 90), are made payable out of the Consolidated Fund, by way of advance, to be repaid out of the "Interest and Produce of the Compensation and Fee Fund of the Suitors of the Court of Chancery in Ireland," and out of "the

"Chancery

"Chancery Suitors' Fee Fund;" and in case both the last-mentioned funds shall be inadequate to the payment of the whole of such compensations, the deficiency is made chargeable upon the Consolidated Fund, by way of advance; and such advances are to become and remain a charge in favour of the Crown, against the accounts of the interest and produce of the Compensation and Fee Funds of the Court of Exchequer and of the Court of Chancery in Ireland, and also against the Suitors' Fee Fund Account, and the said advances are to be repaid to the proper officers of Her Majesty's Exchequer, to be carried to the credit of the Consolidated Fund, in such manner as the Treasury may direct.

By the 9th and 10th Sections of the same Act (13 & 14 Vict. c. 51), which transferred the equity jurisdiction of the Court of Exchequer to the Court of Chancery, the fund of 30,000 l. before referred to, and created by the Act 6 & 7 Vict. c. 55, is to be maintained out of the common and general cash of the suitors of the Court of Chancery, in relief of the charge on the Consolidated Fund, created by the said Act.

By an Act passed on the 29th of July 1856 (19 & 20 Vict. c. 92), intituled "An Act to constitute a Court of Appeal in Chancery, and to amend the Law relating to Appeals from the Incumbered Estates Court in Ireland," it is provided, by the 28th section, that, in case the amount standing to the credit of the Accountant-General of the Court of Chancery in the books of the Bank of Ireland, termed, "The Suitors Fee Fund Account," should be inadequate to the payment of the charges thereon, the amount of such charge, beyond what can be satisfied thereout, shall be charged and paid out of the Consolidated Fund of the United Kingdom, by way of advance, in aid of the said Suitors' Fee Fund Account.

In the same section of the Act, as in the former Acts referred to (6 & 7 Vict. c. 55, and 13 & 14 Vict. c. 51), a provision is added that all such advances made out of the Consolidated Fund shall become and remain a charge on the said Fee Fund in favour of the Crown, and shall be repaid to the proper officers of Her Majesty's Exchequer, to be carried to the credit of the Consolidated Fund, at such times and in such manner as the Treasury shall order and direct.

It appears by the foregoing statement, that Parliament has distinctly provided, in the Acts referred to, that any advances made out of the Consolidated Fund under the authority of those Acts, to make good deficiencies in the Interest and Annual Profits of the Compensation and Fee Funds of the Suitors of the Court of Exchequer, or of the Suitors of the Court of Chancery, or in the Chancery Suitors' Fee Fund, Ireland, shall become and remain a charge on those funds in favour of the Crown, and shall be repaid to the Consolidated Fund.

The sum so advanced out of the Consolidated Fund up to the 31st of March 1867, remaining unpaid, amounts, as will be seen by the accompanying statement, to 406,284 l. 19 s. 5 d.

30 & 31 Vict. c. 44,
and 30 & 31 Vict.
c. 129.

It is necessary here to refer to two Acts passed on the 15th of July, and 20th of August 1867, in connection with the subject of the charges upon the Fee and other funds before mentioned. In these two Acts, a different mode of providing for the payment of those charges is authorised; the 191st section of the Act 30 & 31 Vict. c. 44, directs that "all salaries, pensions, compensations, and superannuations, whether already granted, or to be granted, and all other expenses of the Court of Chancery" (other than the salaries and pensions of officers described, which are payable out of the Consolidated Fund,) "shall be paid out of moneys to be voted by Parliament for that purpose," and the amount of all fees, as well as "the income of all Suitors' Fee or other funds shall be accounted for and paid into the Exchequer;" but it does not appear that Parliament has expressly removed from those funds the liabilities imposed on them by the Acts of 1836, 1843, 1850, and 1856, referred to in the margin. The Act of 1867 (30 & 31 Vict. c. 44) directs, that the income of the Fee and other funds shall be accounted for to the Exchequer (or Consolidated Fund), and that the annual charges upon them shall be voted; but it may be a question whether any payments out of such votes, which may be in excess of the amount of income or fees paid to the Exchequer, will still be repayable as advances under the provisions of former Acts.

6 & 7 Will. 4, c. 74.
6 & 7 Vict. c. 55.
13 & 14 Vict. c. 51.
19 & 20 Vict. c. 92.

In the 20th and 24th sections of the first of the two Acts of 1867, before referred to (30 and 31 Vict. c. 44), it is provided, that the expense of certain salaries and pensions shall be defrayed out of fees or the income of funds which are payable under sections 184 and 191 to the Exchequer.

There is, apparently, some obscurity in these provisions of the Act.

The second Act of 1867 (30 & 31 Vict. c. 129) regulates the official establishments of the Court of Chancery and of the superior courts of common law in Ireland, and provides for the payment of all salaries out of the Consolidated Fund or out of Votes of Parliament, and for the collection of all fees by stamps which are to become ordinary stamps revenue; but there does not appear to be any provision in either of these Acts which deals directly with the unpaid debt to the Consolidated Fund for the advances in aid of the Chancery Funds above referred to, made between the dates of the passing of the Acts and the 31st of March 1867, nor with the debt which may be created in future by the excess of expenditure out of Votes of Parliament beyond the amount of income and fees to be paid to the Consolidated Fund, under the 191st section of the Act 30 & 31 Vict. c. 44.

Sir,

Camp, Zoolla, 18 January 1868.

A DISCUSSION took place lately in Parliament regarding the money received from King Theodorus by Mr. Rassam. In justice to the latter gentleman, I have the honour to state that the money so received was at once credited by him to Government, and appears so in his accounts, with a foot note that 6,800 dollars were taken back from him by the King, when the mission was imprisoned in July 1866.

I have, &c.

IX.—PROGRESS made in the CATALOGUING and ARRANGEMENT, and Account of OBJECTS ADDED, in the Year 1867.

DEPARTMENT OF PRINTED BOOKS.

I. Arrangement.—The books and portions of books added to the Collection, during the year, were arranged on the shelves according to the system of classification adopted in the Museum library. The press-mark indicating the locality of each volume, was noted in the inside and on the outside of each, and on the main titles and cross-references belonging to each work. The number of indications thus affixed and of separate entries of press-marks altered in the Catalogue amounted altogether to 139,111.

II. Cataloguing:—(a.) New General Catalogue from A to L.—The number of title-slips (a term including both main-titles and cross-references) which were written expressly for this Catalogue, amounted to 6,761, and the number of title-slips transcribed fourfold for insertion to 40,386. The latter number includes the title-slips of books of recent date or acquisition, the headings of which fall under the earlier letters of the alphabet from A to L. The number of index-slips prepared and transcribed fourfold, to facilitate consultation of the Catalogue, was 1,030.

31,397 title-slips, and 272 index-slips were incorporated into each of the three copies of this Catalogue. This incorporation rendered it necessary, in order to maintain the alphabetical arrangement, to remove and reinsert in each copy, 41,116 title-slips, and 279 index-slips, and to add to each copy 1,290 new leaves to receive new entries. 11,214 title-slips (of which 5,264 were new) completing letter L, were laid down in one copy of this Catalogue; 14,987 title-slips (of which 6,809 were new) in a second copy, and 8,610 title-slips (of which 6,382 were new) in a third; 776 index-slips of the letter L were laid down in each of the three copies of the Catalogue.

(b.) Supplementary Catalogue from M to Z.—The number of title-slips written for this Catalogue was 60,077, the whole of which, with a few casual exceptions, belonged to the recent acquisitions of the department. The number of these slips transcribed fourfold for insertion was 15,191 and of index-slips 360; 20,360 title-slips and 359 index-slips were incorporated into each of the three copies of the Catalogue. In order to maintain the alphabetical arrangement, 34,051 title-slips, and 106 index-slips were removed and reinserted in each copy, and 1,455 new leaves were added to each copy to receive them; 12,284 title-slips were relaid in two copies of this Catalogue, in order to divide thick volumes and give additional space for new entries, and 11,014 index-slips were relaid in all three copies of the Catalogue, for the same reasons.

The number of new entries made in the Hand-Catalogue of the Periodical Publications was 294.

(c.) Music Catalogue.—The number of title-slips written was 6,145, and of those transcribed fourfold, 8,796.

(d.) Chinese Catalogue.—The number of title-slips written was 2,460.

(e.) Hebrew Catalogue.—The number of title-slips written was 97. In January the printed volume of the Catalogue was issued to the public.

(f.) Carbonic Hand-Catalogue.—Of the fourth copy of the fourfold transcript of the title-slips made use of to form a Hand-Catalogue, 44,548 title-slips were mounted on cartridge paper, 66,080 were arranged according to the press-marks, and 60,620 were incorporated into the general series.

(g.) List of Books of Reference in the Reading Room.—The number of alterations and additions in the interleaved copies of this list, and in the Hand-Catalogue of the same collection, made to record the changes in the books of reference by the addition of new works, and the exchange of old for new editions, amounted to 281 in each of the interleaved copies, and 140 in the Hand-Catalogue.

III. Binding.—The number of volumes sent to the binder, in the course of the year, was 15,563; and in consequence of the plan frequently adopted of binding several volumes in one, the number sent back was 13,741, including 2,354 pamphlets.

The number of volumes repaired was 310.

IV. Reading Room Service.—1. The number of volumes returned to the General Library, from use in the Reading Room, was 244,087, to the Royal Library, 10,541, to the Grenville Library, 1,126, and to the closets, in which books are kept day by day for the use of readers, 170,143. Adding the estimated number of volumes returned to the shelves of the Reading Room, about 830,970, the whole amounted to 1,256,867, or 4,304 per day for the 292 days during which the room was open.

1. The number of readers in the year was 103,469, giving an average of 354 daily; and from the numbers above, each reader appears to have consulted over 12 books per day.

V. Additions.—1. The number of volumes added to the Library in the year (including books of Music and volumes of Newspapers), amounted to 32,645, of which 2,066 were presented, 5,609 were received in pursuance of the laws of English Copyright, 350 were received under the International Copyright Treaties, and 24,620 were acquired by purchase,

2. The number of parts of volumes (i. e., separate numbers of periodical publications, and of serial works in progress), amounted to 32,044, of which 414 were presented, 15,278 were received in pursuance of the laws of English Copyright; 373 were received under the International Copyright Treaties, and 15,979 were acquired by purchase.

The number of sets of Newspapers received from the Inland Revenue Offices of the United Kingdom, was 1,072. Of these 137 were published in Scotland, 126 in Ireland, 202 in London, and 607 in the rest of England. Portions of three sets of Newspapers were presented, and 174 volumes were purchased belonging to 16 different sets.

3. The number of pieces of Music acquired, each piece complete in itself, was 2,306, of which 1,577 were received by English, and 543 by International Copyright, and 186 were purchased. Of portions of works in progress, 371 were received by English, and 207 by International Copyright. 349 works of Music of greater extent than pieces, were acquired, comprising 41 by English and 53 by International Copyright, and 255 by purchase.

4. The number of complete works comprised in the 32,645 volumes, and 32,044 parts of volumes already mentioned, amounted, as nearly as could be ascertained, to 27,779. Of these 1,940 were presented, 5,290 were acquired by English, and 302 by International Copyright, and 20,247 by purchase.

The number of articles received in the department, not included in the foregoing enumeration of volumes and parts of volumes, comprising pieces of Music, single sheets of letterpress, and other miscellaneous pieces, amounted to 4,167; the addition of which to the numbers already given produces a total of 68,856 articles received in the department. The formation of a separate Department of Maps and Charts since the last annual return has, of course, diminished the aggregate of articles returned from the Department of Printed Books.

5. The number of stamps impressed on articles received was altogether 325,064.

Among the noteworthy acquisitions of the department during the year is a collection of nearly 200 volumes of Spanish Plays and Poetry, mostly of the 16th and 17th centuries, presented to the Museum by Henry F. Chorley, Esq., in accordance with the will of his brother, the late John Rutter Chorley, Esq. The value of the collection is enhanced by the numerous bibliographical notes of its late possessor, drawn up in the Spanish language.

Thomas Watts.

Of the Acquisitions, the more important are as follows:—

A fragment of a Latin Treatise on The Virtues and Vices, by a naturalised citizen of Genoa, grandson of Pellegrino Cocharelli, illustrated with miniatures of unusual interest for truthfulness of expression, and for the subjects of history and social manners depicted; of the latter part of the 14th century. The frequent introduction and excellent drawing of natural objects of all kinds, and of ships and buildings, connect these works with the hand of the famous Genoese miniaturist of the family of Cybo, known as the Monk of the Isles of Hyères.

Latin Hours of the Virgin Mary, ornamented with coloured borders containing grotesque figures, and with 35 large miniatures of the finest execution. The volume was prepared for a lady of the family of Saluces, of Piedmont (probably Amedée, daughter of Manfroy, Seigneur de Cardé), about A.D. 1450-60.

The Livre de Chasse of Gaston Phébus, Comte de Foix, with numerous partially tinted drawings. At the end of the volume is the Collection of Prayers attributed to the same author. The Livre de Chasse was composed in the year 1382, and the present copy is of the beginning of the following century.

Three vases have been placed under glass shades. A Guide to the Blacas Collection has been issued to the public.

II.—Acquisitions.

The following antiquities have been purchased from Signor Castellani:—

(1.) A terracotta group representing two female figures playing at the game of astragali, or knuckle bones. This group is of exquisite beauty; it was found in Signor Castellani's excavations at Cumæ.

(2.) Bronze mask in relief, representing the head of the sea monster, Scylla. This is probably the finest extant example of the type of Scylla, and is in excellent condition.

(3.) Bronze relief, eight inches long, representing the Emperor Commodus on horseback; a spirited composition.

(4.) A Roman soldier, 4½ inches high; interesting on account of the details of the armour. This and the bronze previously described were found together at Rome, and have been applied as ornaments.

(5.) Bronze mirror case, on which is embossed a group of a female figure, probably Aphrodite, on whose knees Eros is climbing, and a male figure, perhaps Adonis.

Bronze relief, representing the bust of a marine deity, probably Nereus, on whose breast are two sea monsters, their mouths interlaced. On these sea monsters are seated three female figures, one on one side and two on the other. In the group on the left a naked female figure is seated in the lap of a draped female figure. A similar composition is represented in Carrey's drawing of the western pediment of the Parthenon. This group is probably Aphrodite seated in the lap of Thalassa. The relief is embossed in very thin metal, and is said to have been found in Macedonia.

Bronze female head in relief, looking to the left; on the diadem is the wave pattern; from Greece.

Bronze Etruscan mirror, on which are engraved four female figures, each with her name inscribed in Etruscan characters. This subject is supposed by Gerhard, Denkmäler, Forschungen, &c., 1864, p. 301,* to represent the return of Persephone from Hades.

A female head in Pentelic marble, found on the Acropolis at Athens in 1841. This head is exceedingly beautiful, and appears to be of the period of Phidias. It is not improbable that it has been broken off from a metope of the Parthenon.

Twenty-two terracottas found in Greece, of which the following are the most remarkable:—

(1.) A female figure seated in a chair, on which is a votive inscription; from Tegea, in Arcadia.

(2.) Two figures, each representing Ganymede with a cock under his arm; from Thespieæ in Bœotia.

(3.) A number of curious Hieratic representations of female divinities, chiefly from Tegea.

A small but choice collection of fictile vases, terracottas, and other antiquities discovered by Messrs. Salzmann and Biliotti at Camirus, and other places in Rhodes, among which the following may be especially noticed:—

(1.) A terracotta mask, remarkable for its size and condition, measuring 15 inches in height.

(2.) A lekythos, with black and crimson figures on a white ground, representing two youthful horsemen, probably the Dioscuri; below them is a couch. It is believed that this singular subject is unique.

(3.) Fragment of an inscription on marble, containing part of an honorary decree by the people of Camirus; found at Salakho, in Rhodes.

(4.) Fragment of an inscription containing the name of Zeus Atabyrios; from St. Stephen's Hill, near the town of Rhodes.

A small collection of stone statuettes of the Græco-Phœnician period, discovered at Dali (Idalium) in Cyprus.

A gold plate, with a Gnostic inscription in ten lines; from Amphipolis, in Macedonia.

A collection of Greek fictile vases, terracotta figures, and glass, acquired by Mr. Consul Dennis, by excavations or purchase, at Benghazi and Teucheira in the Cyrenaica, of which the most remarkable is a Panathenaic Amphora, inscribed with the name of the Athenian Archon, Euthykritos, and consequently of the date 328 B.C. Among the terracottas are several draped female figures of great beauty.

In the course of the past year Mr. Wood has continued the excavations at Ephesus, on account of the Trustees, on the sites of the Odeum and of the Great Theatre, and along the ancient way leading out of the city.

The following sculptures, inscriptions, and miscellaneous antiquities have been received from Ephesus during the past year:—

Sculptures.—(1.) A female head, rather larger than life, in fair condition, and probably of the Roman period, found in the Odeum.

(2.) A small statue of Venus in the attitude of the Venus of Medicis, but differing from that statue and from the Venus of the Capitol in the head-dress and accessories. This statuette is well preserved, but the proportions are clumsy and the execution provincial. It is not probably of an earlier period than the third century A. D. From the Great Theatre.

(3.) Relief, representing a Triton blowing a shell.

(4.) A male torso, about life size, of a good period.

(5.) Two small torsos, one male, the other from a draped female figure.

(6.) A colossal foot in a sandal.

(7.) A smaller foot in a sandal, of a good period.

Inscriptions.—(1.) A sepulchral inscription to the memory of M. Helvius Geminus, Imperial Proprætor of Asia, having sculptured on each side the fascæ of his office.

(2.) A small sarcophagus of white marble, ornamented with bulls' heads and festoons, and inscribed with the name Anassa, wife or daughter of Apollonios.

(3.) Another similar sarcophagus inscribed with the names Pannychos, his wife Pithane, and his daughter, in Greek and Latin.

(4.) An inscription, in Greek and Latin, to the memory of P. Terentius Olympos and his family.

(5.) An inscription to the memory of Faustina, who filled the office of κοσμήτρια of Artemis, and to her husband, Menander.

The above five inscriptions were found in excavations along the line of the ancient way leading out of the city.

(6.) The pedestal of a statue erected in honour of Ælius Marcianus Priscus, an Agonothetes in the public games, probably of Ephesus. Two sides of this pedestal are covered with an inscription, part of which appears to be a letter from a Proconsul named Carus.

(7.) Tablet inscribed in the name of a family of gladiators, when Tiberius Julius Rheginus filled the office of Asiarch.

(8.) Part of a decree ordered to be set up in the celebrated Temple of Diana at Ephesus. This inscribed block, which was found built into the Proscenium of the Great Theatre, with other similar decrees, was evidently a wall stone from the cella of the Temple of Diana.

(9.) An inscription of an early period relating to divination by the flight of birds. Published by Boeckh, Corpus Inscript., No. 2,953.

Miscellaneous Antiquities.—A number of lamps, vases, heads, and fragments of figures in terracotta, ivory and bone knife-handles and pins, bronze nails, buckles, and implements, among which the most remarkable is a bronze square, such as is used by mechanics for marking right angles. On clearing away the ruins which encumbered the proscenium and orchestra of the Great Theatre, Mr. Wood found part of the lowest storey of the proscenium in position.

Several of the blocks of which this storey was built were covered with long and interesting inscriptions, some of which had evidently been taken from the Temple of Diana, and used as materials for building the proscenium, which is evidently of the Roman period.

Following the lines of tombs on the ancient road leading out of one of the city gates, Mr. Wood has discovered a number of interesting sepulchral inscriptions, some of which relate to personages who held high official posts under the Roman Empire.

In the angle formed by a bend in the ancient road, he has found a wall fortified with square towers at intervals. The part of this wall already explored forms a right angle lying to the west of the presumed line of the walls of the city. Near it have been found the foundations of an ancient gate leading to the way.

Mr. Wood also explored a mound in front of the Great Gymnasium, where he laid bare part of a public building, which had been faced with fine marbles and adorned with statuary.

The following presents have been received in the Department:—

(1.) A collection of antiquities illustrative of the Greek and Roman bath, and consisting of some choice strigils and bronze vessels used in the bath, together with some glass and terracotta vases used for the same purpose, two pieces of tessellated pavement, and some tiles from a hypocaust.—Presented by George Witt, Esq.

(2.) A skull sculptured in marble, rather larger than nature, found in the ruins of one one of the palaces of Tiberius at Capri, called the Palazzo del Mare. This skull, which appears to belong to the best period of Greek art, seems carefully modelled from nature, certain abnormal peculiarities of the original being exactly reproduced.

The knowledge and subtlety of observation shown by the sculptor in the rendering of these details, shows how much attention the ancient artists bestowed on structural anatomy. It is not known for what purpose this skull was carved, possibly for the use of students of anatomy.

A terracotta head of a duck, obtained at Cairo.

(3.) A statuette in white marble, representing a draped female figure in rapid motion. An interesting specimen of Greek sculpture.—Presented by M. Lysimachus Calocherino, British Vice Consul at Canea, and M. Minos Calocherino, Dragoman to the same Vice Consulate.

(5.) Five small terracotta heads, from Megara.—Presented by M. François Lenormant, Librarian to the French Institute.

(6.) A square socket of cedar wood, said to have been taken from the centre of a drum of one of the columns of the Propylæa at Athens. A description of one of these wooden sockets, with an explanation of their use is given in Penrose, Athenian Architecture, p. 22.

Two potter's stamps from Vienne, in France. Three Roman stone pallets from Cologne.—Presented by Augustus W. Franks, Esq.

C. T. Newton.

The Collections thus displaced have been cleaned, and in a great measure re-arranged in a more systematic manner.

The Collection of Anglo-Roman pottery has been re-arranged, and numerous specimens in it repaired, including most of the fine red bowls with figures in relief.

The Javanese Collection has been removed from the British Room to the Ethnographical Room, where it is temporarily concealed from view.

Two thousand and forty-one Antiquities have been registered, including all the acquisitions of the year 1867, and eighty-one labels have been added.

A selection of 144 specimens was made from the British Collection to be sent to Paris for the Universal Exhibition. These objects were mounted on desks and catalogued, and then placed in the custody of the Department of Science and Art, to be transmitted to Paris, where they were exhibited. They have since been safely returned to the Museum.

The work done in connection with the Christy Collection will be noticed under that head.

These are accompanied by Anglo-Saxon inscriptions in Runic character, describing the subjects, and in one instance, indicating the material of which the casket is made as well as the place where the whale was stranded. The inscriptions seem to be in the Northumbrian dialect, and the execution of the carvings may be assigned to the ninth century. Presented by A. W. Franks, Esq.

DEPARTMENTS OF NATURAL HISTORY.

The Departments of Natural History have received, in the year 1867, 91,228 additional specimens.

Of these, 90,850 have been entered, with distinctive mark and number in the MS. "Register of Accessions," the "habitat" or native locality of each species, and the circumstances of its acquisition by the British Museum, being therein noted.

Progress in the arrangement of the exhibited portions of the Natural History Collections has consisted chiefly in the substitution of better, rarer and more instructive specimens for inferior ones relegated to the series in store.

The stuffed specimens of the class Mammalia have been kept in a state of preservation without other deterioration than is inevitable in regard to those exhibited specimens for which there is not accommodation in the glazed cabinets.

The unstuffed skins of the Mammalia in store are in such a state of preservation as to subserve the purposes of scientific examination and comparison, and most of them are in a state fit for future preparation and exhibition.

The portion of the collection of Birds, skins and skeletons, mounted and exhibited in systematic order, is in a good state of preservation. Most of the Bird Cabinets in the public gallery are now more crowded than is consistent with facility of comparison and study, or with easy access for detailed examination of the specimens.

The remainder of the Collection of Bird-skins unmounted, in storage, preserved in boxes and cupboards in the basement vaults, is in a state of preservation available for the purposes of study and comparison of characters, but in a certain proportion not readily accessible for such uses, this locality, also, becoming crowded.

The portion of the collection of Reptiles and Fishes preserved and displayed, is in a good state of preservation. The greater portion of this collection, including the bulk of the specimens of Lizards, of Serpents and Fishes, is stored in the basement vaults in a space so crowded as to oppose difficulties to their access for scientific study and comparison.

Such stored specimens are preserved in alcohol, and the great variation of temperature, and occasional heat of the locality, occasion rapid evaporation and deterioration of the preserving liquor, accelerating decay. Registered specimens, when so far dissolved and decomposed as to lose character, are removed, the fact and cause being noted in the "Register," but in every case in which the bony texture is firm enough for dry preservation, more or less of the skeleton is transferred to the Osteological series.

The portion of the series of the Shells of the Molluscous animals, arranged and exhibited in the public gallery, is in a good state of preservation, well placed, displayed and labelled, for instruction and reference.

This series gives an epitome of conchology, and models of the soft parts of the species, or fabricators of the shells, are added to exemplify the characters of the leading groups of the Mollusca. The Shell series has been made more instructive and attractive by incorporation of specimens of the Cumington Collection, acquired in 1866, either as additions or substitutions for inferior and faded specimens.

The small portion of the class Insecta publicly displayed, is in a good state of preservation, and is instructively arranged and labelled. The very large portion of the class in the Basement Entomological Store-room is in a good state of preservation, and so arranged in drawers as to be accessible for study and comparison.

The portion of the class Echinodermata exhibited and arranged systematically, together with that stored in drawers and boxes, is in a good state of preservation.

The specimens of the class Acalepha, together with the other soft-bodied invertebrate animals, stored and kept in alcohol, being, as regards the only available locality, under the same deteriorating conditions as affect the stored specimens of Reptilia and Pisces, cannot be so favourably reported of as would be the case if the care and pains in their preservation were bestowed under conditions of more space, cooler and steadier temperature, and better light.

The Corals and other Radiata in the Public Galleries occupy detached glazed cases of such size and in such spaces as occasion least obstruction to the gangways and other interspaces left for the passage of visitors; consequently, the serial juxtaposition, exemplifying—as in the Ornithology and Conchology—the order of progressive affinities, cannot be carried out.

The Collection of the Osteological Specimens, human and comparative, is in a state of preservation. The additions to this series continue to be numerous, and, in the restricted basement space available for storing this Collection, the obstacles to its application in the comparison of fossil and recent bones, annually increase. All the specimens are preserved in a state fit for future systematic display; and as regards the entire skeletons, for articulation, when a Gallery for their exhibition may be provided.

The exhibited series of Nests and Nidamental structures, and of the British Natural History, are severally in a good state of preservation and arrangement.

Present conditions of space necessitate the display of the extensive series of Horns and Antlers of Mammalia apart from the stuffed specimens and skeletons of the species to which they belong or are allied.

The portion of the series of the Fossil remains which is exhibited, is well arranged and instructively instructively labelled. The portion kept in store is partly arranged, in glazed cases, in a recess to which the public have not access, partly in drawers; but, for the most part, easily available to the student and scientific visitor. All the fossil specimens, whether exhibited or in store, are in a good state of preservation.

The major part of the series of Mineralogy is publicly exhibited, under conditions of arrangement, with illustrative models and indices, and with generic and specific labelling, greatly facilitating its instructive study and scientific applications. All the Minerals, displayed and kept in store, are in a perfect state of preservation.

Many of the fossils of the Mammalian and Reptilian classes have had their condition, in respect of instructive display of characters, improved, since their reception in the Museum, by careful removal of matrix, re-adjustment and cementing of separated fragments. The most valuable additions are referred to in the Reports from the several Departments of Natural History. Of the total number of additions in 1867, 81,228 have been to that of Zoology, 9,156 to that of Geology, and 813 to that of Mineralogy.

Richard Owen.

DEPARTMENT OF ZOOLOGY.

The Collection of Zoology, which embraces all the various classes of the Animal Kingdom, has been increased during the year 1867 to the extent of 81,228 specimens. These may be divided in the following manner, to exhibit the different classes to which each portion belongs:—

|                      |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |        |
|----------------------|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|--------|
| Vertebrata           | - | - | - | - | - | - | - | - | 3,309  |
| Mollusca and Radiata | - | - | - | - | - | - | - | - | 4,426  |
| Annulosa             | - | - | - | - | - | - | - | - | 73,493 |
| TOTAL                |   |   |   |   |   |   |   |   | 81,228 |

Each of the examples has been regularly marked with its date and number, and entered in the manuscript Register of Accessions, with a record of the locality from which the specimen was collected, and at the same time showing how it was acquired, whether by donation or by purchase.

Each specimen has been carefully selected from various Collections, when offered for purchase, as being the most desirable for completing the series previously contained in the Museum, or as exemplifying the various localities of the different species of animals on the earth's surface.

Many of them, also, are highly interesting, as being the identical specimens from which the new species have been described, and therefore extremely valuable as the types on which the species have been founded by Zoologists.

Other specimens have been selected as showing the changes which take place in the several species during their development and growth towards maturity, or as illustrating the differences which exist between the allied species that belong to closely connected localities.

The prepared skins of Vertebrated Animals, which are exhibited in the cases in the public rooms for the instruction and amusement of the students and visitors, have been cleaned and rearranged.

The series of skins of Mammals and Birds, and the bones of the Vertebrated Animals, which are kept in boxes; the collection of entire animals preserved in spirits; and the collection of Insects, Crustacea, and Radiated Animals, which are contained in cabinets for the use of the more scientific students, have been re-examined and cleaned; they have likewise been re-arranged, both for the purpose of adding the new specimens, where necessary, and for facilitating the means of access to the specimens, when required for the purpose of study.

Great attention has also been paid to the arrangement and nomenclature of the different portions of the Zoological Collections, so that the various classes of animals might be arranged and named in accordance with recent advances in the knowledge of species.

The number of students and visitors, for the special purpose of studying the various portions of the Zoological Collection contained in the private rooms, and to the public rooms on private days, has amounted to 2,502.

The following catalogues have been printed during the year 1867:—

Works of the Department.

The whole Gallery devoted to the Minerals and Fossils having been cleaned and repainted during the past year, it became necessary to remove all the specimens arranged on the tops of the cases (excepting certain very large and heavy objects in Rooms III. and IV., which were protected by covering in canvass, &c.) and in the window recesses; and as the rooms were successively painted and cleaned these specimens were cleaned and re-arranged. By alterations in the shelves and stands, additional space was gained for the exhibition of many additional specimens recently obtained.

The interiors of nearly all the wall-cases have been cleaned, and the specimens have in some cases been partially, and in others wholly, re-arranged; and, as far as possible, space has been provided for the exhibition of new species recently acquired.

The cases which have been entirely re-arranged are—

In Room III., Case No. 3, containing the Turtles and other Chelonian Reptiles. Case 7, containing the remains of the Sivatherium, Camels, and other Ruminant animals. Case 11, containing the different species of Dinornis from New Zealand, and other specimens of fossil Birds.

Room V. The case containing the Rhinoceros remains, &c., in Room VI.; the entire series of Elephant and Mastodon remains have been re-arranged, the specimens having been previously cleaned, as well as the cases. Cases 10 and 11, containing the remains of animals found in the caves of Brazil, and in the cavern of Bruniquel, in the South of France, have likewise been cleaned and re-arranged.

In these cases a large number of labels have been replaced by others, required through the different arrangements adopted. Among the objects exhibited for the first time, the following are especially worthy of note:

The new species of Plesiosaurus, to which Professor Owen has given the specific name "laticeps," which is displayed in Room III., on the top of Case 9. This sea-reptile is 13 feet in length, and is unusually well preserved.

The enormous head of another sea reptile (Pliosaurus grandis), and a lower jaw of an allied species, on Case No. 7, in the same room.

A well-preserved head of Ichthyosaurus platyodon, in Room IV., on the top of Case 3.

The two large Carapaces of different species of Glyptodon, in Room VI., one on the top of Case 2, and the other on Case 11.

Two Cases for the exhibition of a selection of Fossil Sponges have been prepared and exhibited in Room IV. The Fossil Corals have been collected together, catalogued, and arranged in a series of drawers in Room VI. The Cephalopoda have, in like manner, been collected together and arranged so as to render them available for study.

DEPARTMENT OF MINERALOGY.

The Collection has been increased during the year 1867 by 813 specimens, which have been entered, catalogued, labelled, and distributed in their places in the Collection.

The work of the Department has besides consisted in—

1. The cataloguing and labelling of the specimens previously incorporated from the Kokscharow Collection, mounting on pedestals and labelling the more choice crystals of that Collection; selecting and incorporating in the reserve drawers specimens from the Monticelli Collection, and labelling the Minerals in the duplicate and reserve collections.

2. In determining the crystalline forms, and inscribing their symbols on many of the more choice crystals in the cases containing the Phenakites, the Topazes, Chrysoberyls, Crocoisites, and on specimens of quartz and of other species not previously thus illustrated.

3. The addition of a small Laboratory to the department, which has been made during the year, affords the means, never before existing, of determining with precision and certainty the constitution of minerals offered for purchase, or of such as were in the Collection, but the true places for which in it were doubtful. Valuable results have already accrued from this means being afforded to the Department; and at the present moment a series of analyses are in progress which will serve to give much certainty to the indications afforded by the microscope as to the composition of Meteorites, and will enable a scientific classification of the very important collection of these bodies in the Museum to be adopted.

The more important additions to the Collection have been—

Valuable specimens of Sarcolite, Davyne, Sodalite, Lanarkite in bright green crystals, with Berzelianite, Eucairite and Crookesite from the Skrikerum Mine, Sweden, have also been obtained by exchange.

The Collection of Meteorites has steadily progressed in importance for many years past, and at present represents the large number of 260 distinct falls. It has, in fact, for some few years past been the foremost existing collection, not merely in the numbers of the distinct meteorites it represents, but also in the completeness of the manner in which it represents them and the magnitude of the specimens.

By purchase, specimens of five new falls have been obtained, four of stone, and one an iron meteorite, namely:—

Dolores Hidalgo, four leagues east of Poblacion, Mexico.

Hacienda de Bocas, San Luis Potosi, Mexico.

St. Mesmin, Aube, France.

Bubuowly Indigo Factory, Supuhee, Goruckpur.

Mass of Iron from Atacama.

While, by the fruitful method of exchange, the Museum has acquired no less than seven new iron meteorites and five of stone.

Furthermore, the Museum has received from the Geological Survey of India, by virtue of instructions from the Secretary of State in Council, for India, as presentations, two new Indian falls; those, namely, of Muddoor, 21st September 1865; and of Pokhra, 27th May 1866; and from the Museum of Calcutta, in exchange, two new falls—those, namely, of Gopalpur, 23rd May 1865, and Sherghotty, 25th August 1865. The Museum is also indebted to the Secretary of State for India, in Council, for two new Meteorites (stones) that fell at Shytal, 11th August 1863, and at Jamkheir, 5th October 1866, respectively; and which were sent direct to the British Museum. The total number of meteorites added during the year has amounted to the great number of 33, whereof 23 were new to the collection, including an iron meteorite acquired from Señor Bustos, in Paris, which weighs 25 lbs., is complete in form, in excellent preservation, and presents a very remarkable condition of surface. It was found on a plain of the Cordilleras, in Atacama, and differs from the other meteorites that have been found in that district.

The present unrivalled state of the National Collection of these most interesting bodies is very greatly due to the instructions sent out from the Secretaries of State for Foreign Affairs for the Colonies, and for India; and especially to those of the Secretary of State for India in Council, and to the liberal spirit in which the Governors of Presidencies have responded to them.

DEPARTMENT OF PRINTS AND DRAWINGS.

The following is the progress made in the Department of Prints and Drawings during the year 1867:

The whole of the prints in the 20 volumes of Hollar's works have been marked off in Parthey's

Parthey's abridged Catalogue, the position of each print being indicated for facility of reference.

Three hundred and fourteen of the caricatures and humorous pieces of George Cruikshank have been mounted, chronologically arranged, and incorporated in the series.

The small books of prints deposited in the Print Room have been classified according to their respective Italian, German, Dutch, Flemish, French, and English schools. Those containing English etchings have been placed together.

The etchings and touched proofs of Turner's "Liber Studiorum," ninety-four in number, and also twenty-one odd proofs of the "Southern Coast," &c., engraved by W. B. Cooke, with corrections and notes in manuscript by the Painter, have been mounted with sunk boards, to preserve their surfaces from friction, and arranged in four solander cases.

A collection of prints by the best English masters of the middle and the end of the last century has been made and arranged for the Paris Exhibition, with a descriptive list for the official catalogue. These prints have since been safely returned to the Museum.

Drafts of catalogues have been written of the works of Marc Antonio, Agostino Veneziano, Marco da Ravenna, the anonymous scholars of Marc Antonio, Julio Bonasone, Æneas Vico, and of the schools of Nuremberg and Lower Germany, including those of Virgil Solis.

The fine series of Vandyck heads, forming the "Iconographie de Vandyck," with those published by Gillis Hendricx and Jean Meissens, of which the Museum possesses a remarkable collection, many being in early and undescribed states, has been brought together, and three volumes have been mounted, with the references to Weber and Szykowski affixed to each portrait.

The collection of engravings after Rubens has been marked off in Basan's catalogue of the works of that master, with the inventory or register mark, and each print inscribed with the reference to the same author.

The works of Charles Méryon have been arranged in two volumes, and the references to Burty's Catalogue affixed to each print. A translation of that catalogue has been made, with a notice of each undescribed state in the Print Room added thereto.

The works of Jacob Walch have been arranged in a volume, with the references to Bartsch and Passavant affixed to each print.

Holbein's drawings for jewellers' work, in the Sloane Collection, which were suffering from friction and other evils in the old volume in which they were mounted, have been carefully removed from the leaves of that book and properly arranged and re-mounted with sunk boards, to preserve them from future injury.

The curious series of initial letters, purchased last year in four lots at Dr. Wellesley's sale of books, has been arranged and bound in a volume with some specimens already deposited in the Print Room. The combined series amounts to 5,402 specimens, each of which has been impressed with the small stamp of the department.

The collection of historical prints, 1,621 in all, has been marked off in an interleaved copy of Drugulin's Historical Atlas, mention being made of those prints not described therein. A good temporary catalogue for reference has thus been formed.

The works of the anonymous masters of the school of Marc' Antonio have been arranged in two volumes, and the references to Bartsch and Passavant affixed to each print.

The prints and manuscript notes in the first three volumes of the illustrated Royal Academy Catalogues, presented by Mr. Anderdon, have been put in order, and made available for reference; the whole collection having been impressed throughout with the Print Room stamp and consecutive numbers from 1 to 5,260.

A curious collection of illustrations of English panoramas has been formed and arranged, with a manuscript index and with the descriptive text bound separately in two volumes.

The prints after Rembrandt have been arranged for binding, and the numerous recent additions also prepared for mounting prior to their amalgamation with the series which will form, when complete, a collection of a most important character.

Eight thousand two hundred and twenty-one articles have been entered in the register of purchases and presentations.

Seven thousand nine hundred and eighty-three articles have been stamped, and have had the register mark affixed.

Thirteen thousand and ninety-five titles have been prepared for the prints after English masters.

Two thousand eight hundred and ninety-five titles have been prepared for the catalogue of foreign portraits.

Nine hundred and ninety-nine titles have been prepared for the catalogue of English portraits.

The following are some of the most important acquisitions made during the past year:—

upwards of two thousand prints and etchings, and enriched by numerous notes; presented by G. A. Anderdon, Esq.
